FOOTBALL SCHEDULE INCLUDES TEAMS IN MIDDLEBURY'S CLASS

Wesleyan, Williams, B. U. and Providence on 1926 Card

Middlebury's 1926 gridiron schedule, as announced this morning by Graduate Manager R. R. Shepardson, contains eight games, four at home and four on other fields. The feature of the schedule for next fall is the fact that Middlebury will be playing teams within her own class throughout the season; teams with which the Blue and White should be able to cope with a fair measure of success. This has not been the case during the past few years, where Middlebury has contended with teams obviously above her grade.

Wesleyan and Providence are newcomers on the Middlebury football program, and both will be able to give the Black Panther a battle on even terms. Williams returns to the schedule again, which will be a source of interest and pleasure both to the student and alumni body as these two teams have not met since 1922 and at that time each team had won one game so that the meeting next fall will have especial significance. Boston University, which has not been on the Middlebury card since 1920, will again be among the Panther's opponents. A two- year agreement has been entered into with both B. U. and Providence.

The Blue and White will open the 1926 season at Middletown when it meets Wesleyan and the following week will meet the second of the Little Three teams when it plays Williams at Williamstown. The following week the team will be seen in action on Porter Field, the team as yet to be selected. The team will again travel the next week when it meets B. U. in the Hub, after which it will have an idle week in preparation for St. Stephen's and the two state series games which come on successive Saturdays. The final game will be played at Middlebury with Providence College as an opponent.

1926 Football Schedule

Sept. 25	Wesleyan at Middletown.
Oct. 2.	Williams at Williamstown.
Oct. 9	Pending at Middlebury.
Oct. 16	Boston University at Boston.
Oct. 23	Open.
Oct. 30	St. Stephen's at Middlebury.
Nov. 6	Norwich at Northfield.
Nov. 13	Vermont at Middlebury.
Nov. 20	Providence College at Middlebury.

COLLEGE BAND WILL GIVE FIVE CONCERTS

To Appear in Gymnasium March 3; Two Day Trip Scheduled

The Middlebury College Band, which was reorganized last fall and which proved to be so popular during the football season, is to appear in five concerts during the month of March, it was announced yesterday by Dean Edgar J. Wiley. Plans are being made to hold a concert in the Gymnasium the evening of March 3. This will be followed later in the month by a two day trip, during which it is probable that concerts will be given both in the afternoons and evenings in towns in central Vermont and Western New York state.

Although the band has not appeared in public since the close of the football season, it has been holding weekly rehearsals and has prepared a fine selection of concert music. Joseph P. Lechnyr of Burlington will direct the band in its public appearances. Further announcements concerning the home concert and concerning the date of the trip will be made at a later date.

The male quartet from the college glee club will accompany the band on its trip.

VERMONT BOWS TO BLACK PANTHER 3-2 IN HOCKEY BATTLE

Sextet Downs Rivals; First Encounter On Ice; Kelley Stars

The Black Panther drew first blood in its two game hockey series with the University of Vermont when it defeated the Green and Gold pucksters at Burlington Monday by the score of three to two. It was the first official meeting of the two colleges on the ice for this is the first time that Vermont has had a regularly organized team. Kelley '29 was the star of the game, making all of the Blue's tallies.

At the start of the game it took some time for the Blue sextet to find itself for its lineup had been altered somewhat by the ineligibility of Whittemore and Hill, who had been playing regularly at wings.

The Vermont offense started off auspiciously when Hebert pushed the puck into the cage after only three minutes play. The remainder of the period was scoreless although the play was continually near Vermont's goal with Middlebury always threatening to score.

As the second period opened, the home team made its second and last goal when Hebert made a lucky shot which slipped past the Blue and White's goalie. Soon after this Kelley stopped the puck near his own goal and took it through the entire Vermont team to make the first tally for Middlebury. A few minutes later he repeated his feat. The winning point came shortly after the opening of the last period, Kelley again doing the scoring.

Vermont did well in her first intercollegiate game, putting up a hard fight throughout. However, the Blue and White team was much superior in skating and puck carrying. Inaccuracy in shooting prevented the Blue from making several more scores.

Middlebury was especially strong on the defense, Captain McLaughlin and Twichell breaking up the Vermont forward line almost every time it came down the ice. Jack Conley played a good game at goal, making several excellent stops.

The summary of the game follows:

Middlebury	Vermont
Bossert, Gruggle, rw	lw, Kimball
Simmons, Jason, lw	rw, Williamson
Kelley, c	c, Hebert
Twichell, ld	rd, Denning (Capt)
McLaughlin, (Capt) rd	ld, Wood
Conley, g	g, Mitguy

Goals, Kelley 3, Hebert 2. Stops, Mitguy 14, Conley 14. Penalties, Wood 1 minute. Referee Lawes. Time, 3 15 minute periods.

BLUE GIVES UNBEATEN AGGIE QUINTET STIFFEST BATTLE OF YEAR IN 16-14 GAME

Team Tallies More Floor Baskets Than M. A. C. But Loses Out

THREE DEFEATS ON BAY STATE TRIP

B. U. and Tufts Each Gain Victory by Margin of Five Points

Coming within two points of stopping the unbroken record of victories of the strong M. A. C. quintet, and forcing Boston University and Tufts to fight to the last minute to win out by five point margins, the Blue and White basketball five went down to defeat in the three games of the trip to Massachusetts last week. The games were the last three of six within a period of eight days. In each contest the scores were unusually close, the Black Panther team displaying an unusually fast and flashy type of basketball throughout. Although the quintet was somewhat handicapped by having played three hard games just previous to the Bay State invasion, the calibre of the game which the team played was consistently good and earned for them the genuine respect of each of the teams played.

B. U. Wins by Five Points

Thursday night the Blue and White quintet lost to Boston University 33 to 28 after forcing the Terriers to the limit to win. Middlebury forged ahead at the outset and established an eight point lead that they were able to hold until Cohen, right forward for Boston, broke through the Middlebury defense and put his team in the lead. Early in the second period Middlebury again got away to a flying start and was in the lead when Capt. Leonard of the Terriers broke loose and after a series of plays put the B. U. quintet ahead. Middlebury was handicapped by personal fouls early in the game that made substitutions necessary, and but for this, the score mght have been different. In point of floor goals the two teams were on even terms, with eleven each but five extra fouls gave the Boston team the necessary margin to win. Capt. Rice, W. Rice and Knowles were the stars of this game with "Shorty" piling up eight points and Knowles and Bill Rice amassing seven each.

PROF. BAKER OF YALE SPEAKS HERE IN MAY

Professor George P. Baker, formerly director of the Harvard 47 Workshop, and now Professor of the History and the Technique of the Drama and Director of the Yale University Theater, will visit Middlebury on May 8 as as one of the speakers in the series of Vocational Lectures, according to an announcement made by Dean Edgar J. Wiley today. He will probably take as his subject "Dramatics as a Profession."

Professor Baker spoke on a similar subject here in 1923, in the series of lectures given that year. His talk at that time proved to be one of the most popular in the year's series. He is recognized as one of the country's outstanding authorities on the subject and Middlebury is unusually fortunate to be able to hear him a second time.

FRESHMEN MEN TO HAVE INTRAMURAL PRIZE DEBATING

Parker Speaking Prizes to Be Awarded at Close of Semester

A freshman intramural debating schedule terminating in a prize debate at the end of the semester will replace the usual Parker Prize Speaking contest this year, according to announcements made public today. It is expected that the plan will be of more interest to the freshmen and consequently attract a greater number of men than the speaking contests usually do. The plan, which will go into operation at once, calls for the separation of the candidates into several groups. After preliminary study of a question for debate, the groups will be subdivided and the men will be given a chance to debate, one group meeting the other. Toward the end of the semester, those men who have shown the best promise will be arranged in two teams and will meet in a prize debate. This debate will replace the annual Parker Speaking Contest. The four prizes of fifty, thirty-five, twenty-five, and twenty dollars will be awarded to the best debaters on both teams regardless of whether the men are on the winning or losing side.

The entire plan will be under the final supervision of Professor W. E. Davison and Dana S. Hawthorne '26 of the Public Speaking Department. Assistance in coaching will be given by William T. Hade '26 a member of the Varsity debating team.

Since this freshman debating is not being offered as a course, no college credits toward a degree will be given. It is expected that the plan will greatly stimulate interest in debating and as a result produce men capable of filling positions on the Varsity team next year.

R. J. Saulnier Is Elected Freshman Class President

Raymond J. Saulnier of South Hamilton, Mass., was elected president of the freshman class at a meeting held last week. Saulnier fills the vacancy caused by the fact that Al Henry has been forced to withdraw from college on account of the injury which he received during the football season last fall.

Saulnier has been active in dramatics during his first semester in college. He played an important part in "Tweedles" which was given by the Dramatic Club last fall. He is a member of the cast of the freshman play, "The Goose Hangs High." He is a tryout for the editorial staff of the CAMPUS.

NINE HOME GAMES ARE ON SCHEDULE FOR DIAMOND MEN

Unusually Good Baseball Card Arranged; Season Opens April 22

Nineteen games, of which nine will be played at Middlebury, compose the baseball schedule for this spring which was given out yesterday by R. R. Shepardson, Graduate manager of Athletics. The card is one of the most attractive of recent years and will bring Middlebury in athletic relations with most of the representative colleges of New England.

Several of the games are with colleges that Middlebury is meeting for the first time in baseball, including Wesleyan and Williams, both of whom are also appearing on the football schedule.

The team will start the season with a southern New England trip when it meets Springfield on April 22 and the following day plays Wesleyan at Middletown, bringing the trip to a close at Amherst on the twenty-fourth. Following this trip the Blue and White will play five home games during the first two weeks in May, with the University of Vermont and Tufts as the Junior Week attractions.

The second trip will come the third week in May when Middlebury will meet Dartmouth, Boston College, Providence College and the University of New Hampshire. This will be followed by four home games before the final examinations start, while Norwich and St. Michael's will be here on the twelfth and fourteenth of June as Commencement week games.

GLEE CLUB DOES WELL IN CONTEST

Wesleyan Wins the Right to Represent New England at New York

Middlebury's Glee Club made an exceptionally good showing when it sang in competition with the clubs of eight other New England Colleges at the first annual New England Intercollegiate Glee Club contest, held at Jordan Hall, Boston, Saturday evening. The contest was won by Wesleyan, which thereby gains the right to represent New England at the national Intercollegiate contest to be held in New York next month. Bowdoin was given honorable mention for having placed a close second to the winner. The decision of the judges met with the hearty approval of the audience. Although the rating of the remainder of the clubs has not as yet been officially announced, it has been unofficially reported here that Middlebury rated third or fourth.

Each club sang three songs, including one of its own choice, the prize song, "Lamp in the West" by Horatio Parker, and a college song. The prize-winning Wesleyan club sang as its first song "Ring and the Rose" by Craign and for its college song, "Twilight Song." Bowdoin sang "Suabian Folk Song" by Brahms and "Rise, Sons of Bowdoin." Middlebury's choice song was "Gipsy John" by Clay, while for the college song, the club took "Gamaliel Painter's Cane."

The college songs were as follows: Holy Cross, "Hail to the Purple Varsity", Brown, "Cheering Song,'; Clark' "Sons of Clark"; Boston College, "To

Vol. XXII February 17, 1926 No. 18

WE BEG TO DIFFER

One of the primary purposes of a college newspaper is to stimulate thought and discussion concerning various affairs of the student body. In order that the paper may take a real part in the discussion, it becomes necessary for it to take one side or the other of these questions. A bald statement of both sides of the case is all that should be in the news columns, but in the editorial column, the situation is exactly the opposite. That is the place for opinion to be expressed.

Now, if in the editorial column a question is brought up which is open to debate, and if the paper upholds a side of the problem in which there is some measure of truth and justice and in which the editors honestly believe, and if discussion is caused thereby resulting in a complete 'airing" of the matter with an excellent opportunity for those interested to become acquainted with both sides, can the editorial be said to "hinder more than help the college?" If the editorial is right, is it not doing service in pointing out an evil which exists? And if it is not right and the discussion provoked thereby establishes that fact for the benefit of the student body and settles the matter once and for all, hasn't a service been rendered? Surely, if the other side of the question is as strong as our critics maintain, it will not be difficult to prove it. Furthermore, we believe that to have this discussion is much better for the college as a whole than merely to have had the editor himself go to the authorities in charge of the situation, become personally convinced that present conditions are all right, and then have said nothing about it. That might have settled the question for the editor, but it would not have done so for the many students in whose mind doubt exists in regard to the present situation.

For the simple reason, therefore, that an open discussion of a debatable question is valuable, we feel that the last sentence of the communication concerning assistant managerships, contains an unjust reference to our last week's editorial.

For the rest of the communication, we are grateful, although we can not agree with many of the statements. It gives a good statement of the other side of the matter which we brought up last week. It is just such communications as these that we want to print. Let us take this occasion to again invite our readers to send such communications when they do not agree with our editorial opinions. It is in such discussions of college affairs, that the columns of the Campus can serve the best purpose.

A SANE SCHEDULE

The football schedule for the coming season will gain the hearty approval of Middlebury students and alumni. For the first time in several years the Black Panther team will meet none but teams of its own class. Not a single one of the games will be a setup, in fact most of the opposing teams will represent colleges which are larger than Middlebury, yet in every game the Blue will have an even chance of victory. This has not been the case in the past few years, when the little Blue teams have met some of the biggest and best in Eastern football. We believe that the games against the large institutions have been valuable to Middlebury in many ways. Yet we believe that at this time a schedule of the calibre of the 1926 one is exactly the thing that is needed.

GAMALIEL PAINTER'S CANE

A feeling of tremendous college spirit swept through chapel last week the morning the Glee Club sang "Gamaliel Painter's Cane." That particular song rendered even with our feeble efforts has always been like oil to fire but given by the Glee Club it inspired us with an enthusiasm hard to arouse away from the athletic field. Everything took on a new meaning after hearing that song and the members of the Glee Club should feel amply repaid for singing before the student body.

It takes an unusual sort of occurrence to arouse the sort of feeling that filled the chapel that morning. Seldom do we find ourselves bound by such emotional loyalty when not on the athletic field. Such a condition is not strange but it is rather to be deplored. Our athletic teams are only a small part of the college, and it does not seem right that they should receive all our enthusiasm. Not that we should give less attention to our teams but that we should back the rest of the college activities and the college as a whole more.

Some more worthwhile intellectual pursuits of Middlebury receive all too small a percentage of our support in comparison with their merit. Gamaliel Painter left us the courage of his cane not only to help us carry on in athletics but to inspire us to give of our best for the college as a whole.

Stewart Elected To Fill Student Council Vacancy

Lester Q. Stewart '26, of Camden, N. J., was chosen last night by the Undergraduate Association to fill the vacancy in the Student Council caused by the resignation of Harry J. Frank, '26. Stewart is the treasurer of the senior class and has been active in college and class affairs during his four years in college. He is a member of the Kappa Delta Rho fraternity.

VALUE OF BUSINESS EDUCATION IS TOLD

Assistant Dean of Harvard School Talks Before Student Body

Deane W. Mallot, assistant Dean of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration, spoke before the student body at chapel last Wednesday morning on the topic of "Business Education." His talk was unusually interesting and proved to be one of the most popular of the vocational series. He said, in part, as follows:

"In the past twenty-five years the conception of time and space has entirely changed and narrowed. To a great extent this is due to successful business education and administration. In this short period of time Business Education has grown from its infancy. Old methods have become obselete and the business aspirant has in the several business schools of the country a place to receive a first hand education. This rapid growth is the result of four factors: During the war the need of trained and specialized men was seen, and shortly after there was a tremendous growth in the enrollment of Business Schools. (2) The liberal arts college has more to do than give an insight into Business. (3) Business executives need trained men for employees They need men specialized in specific types of work; executives for advertising, statistical work and personnel. (4) The business school was the best place to give this education.

"Business schools do not attempt to make an executive; There he is taught the organization of business, the method of approach, economic backgrounds; he is taught to think out and solve typical business problems. As for the technique of business, it is relatively unimportant, because of the variety of ways it is handled. The way to teach business is through actual business cases. A business education is fundamentally a short-cut to business success. More than anything else it gives an humble attitude toward the job, and a knowledge as to what to do in case of an emergency.

"However, a liberal arts education is infinitely more important as a background than a business education alone.

It counts far more in future business."

ALUMNI NOTES

Dr. John M. Thomas '90, president of Rutgers University and formerly president of Middlebury, was compared to Lincoln by the Albany Evening News of January 29, on the occasion of a reception tendered him by the Rutgers alumni of Albany.

"Of course Dr. Thomas doesn't look like Lincoln but the lives and personalities, the inner men, are almost the same," the News said. "Dr. Thomas is now one of the most widely recognized educational authorities in the country, not only in university-building but also in language, history and other departments of knowledge.

Abner Smith '64, was awarded the prize as the oldest alumnus present at the ninth annual dinner of the Interfraternity Association of Chicago, held in the Hotel Drake the evening of February 11. The attendance broke all records for the annual dinners of the association, 1542 men being present as compared to last year's record attendance of 950. Over forty national fraternities are represented in the organization.

Professor Cady to Teach In South

For the coming summer, Professor Frank W. Cady has been engaged to teach in the summer session of the University of North Carolina, where he will give two courses, one of which will be Shakespeare. In the summer of 1927, Professor Cady expects to teach at the University of Washington, Seattle, Wash.

COMMUNICATION

Coach Klevenow Assails Campus Editorial on Managerial Competitions; Agrees Method of Selection Wrong

To the Editor of The Campus:

The editorial appearing in the CAMPUS of Feb. 10, relative to men trying for assistant manager of the various teams does not in the least bear out all the facts of the situation.

I agree with the writer that the mode of selecting the manager is wrong but that is where I consider the facts of the editorial end. The system of selection should be changed whereby those who are in close contact with the situation will choose the manager and undoubtedly this will be changed in the near future.

The men who go out for assistant manager show they have something in them which gives them the spirit of sacrifice, the sacrifice of many hours of valuable time. The fault lies not in the system of work but in the fact that more men do not try out for managerships and in selecting the men. The men who try out do a service to the college, the teams and to themselves. They are not the ones who sit down and criticize before looking into facts, they are the ones who set out to do something and whether they become managers or not they get something which is more valuable than that which the man who writes for the college paper gets. They get the spirit which is imbued in the teams themselves; a spirit that carries on disregarding setbacks, misfortunes and bad breaks, until the game is over. The editorial also suggests that men drop out of competition. That very idea breeds "Quitters". If a man cannot stick to the end and see a thing through merely because another is leading him he does not belong in Middlebury. It is when the odds are greatest that he should show his heart, and a man without a heart is lost.

The writer of the editorial certainly has not seen the practical side of the situation. I doubt whether he knows how much work there is connected with the running of a team! Certainly we are no better than some of the large universities where we find any number of assistant managers, in fact almost one for each player on each team. A little dirt on one's hands and a little rubbing down now and then will help one to appreciate what real work is. I deem it a privilege to work with the type of athlete we have at Middlebury and surely the men trying for manager also do. That privilege is a reward in itself. Young America will not have completed its course in Higher Education until it has seen more of the school of Hard Knocks.

It is just such editorials as these which hinder more than help our college.

Yours truly,
M. M. KLEVENOW.

"Do Not Be Afraid To Take Risks"—Vernon

Dartmouth Professor Delivers Able Sermon On "Risks Of Life" At Sunday Vespers

"The Great Risks of Life" was the subject of the vesper sermon delivered by the Reverend Ambrose Vernon, Professor of biography at Dartmouth College in Mead Chapel Sunday. The text was taken from Mark 8:35—"For whosoever would save his life shall lose it; and whosoever shall lose his life for my sake and the gospel's shall save it."

The Reverend Mr. Ambrose declared that there were two ways of living—one in which the sole object is to protect our own life from all possible harm and the other to sacrifice it, if need be for something of still greater value. It is the latter course which we should strive to follow taking care that we are not wasting our lives needlessly. "Jesus", he said, "Never preached the doctrine of safety first."

Wig and Pen Revises Schedule of Plays

A new schedule for the one-act plays of Wig and Pen has been drawn up because of the fact that a broken boiler in the Playhouse has made it impossible to give plays there during the past two weeks.

The revised schedule is as follows:

Feb. 27, Groups 1, 2, 13.
March 4, Groups 3, 9, 11.
March 18, Freshman Play.
March 25, Groups 8, 12, 17.
April 15, Groups 5, 10, 18.
April 22, Groups 6, 14, 19.
April 29, Groups 7, 15, 20.
May 6, Groups 4, 16, 21.

Committee Chairmen Named For Junior Week

The appointments of five men as chairmen of the various Junior Week committees were announced yesterday by Foster R. Clement, Jr., chairman of Junior Week. Alfred L. Padula will be in charge of the Junior Prom; Mervin W. McCutcheon chairman of the Junior Play; Scott Babcock, chairman of the Program Committee; Howard Cutler, chairman of invitations, and Harry Graves, treasurer of Junior Week. The names of those on the various committees will be announced next week.

Macy Representative Here

The employment manager of the R. H. Macy Co. of New York is in Middlebury today, interviewing seniors and juniors who are considering the possibility of taking up the business of retail trade after their graduation. Those interested were also interviewed yesterday by Joseph Kasper '20, who is a department manager at Macy's and who is spending a short vacation here.

PRACTISE STARTS FOR BATTERY MEN

Seven Pitchers, Nine Catchers Report For Early Season Work

Seven pitchers and nine catchers have reported to Coach Klevenow during the first week of battery practise and with the close of the basketball and hockey seasons this number will be further increased. Practise sessions are being held regularly and the battery men are fast limbering up and getting into shape to be ready for intensive practise when the general call for candidates for the Blue and White nine is issued on March 1.

Among the pitchers who are out are H. Higgins, Lankes, Williams, Simmons, Hingston and Begley. Towne, who has been one of the star performers during the past three seasons will report at the close of basketball and Bossert, a freshman, and former Wellesley High and Huntington school star, will report at the termination of the hockey schedule. Williams, who played on the varsity during his freshman year is showing up especially well as is also Simmons who was on the squad last year and these two, together with Higgins, Hingston and Towne appear to be slated for the pitching activities this spring.

The men out for the receiving end include Conley, Hoyle, Hasseltine, Gazdagh, Osborne, Willis, Douglas, Keene, and Burns. Conley, who has been a member of the Black Panther nine for three years, finished behind the plate last season, and appears to be in line for this position again this year although he will be pushed by Willis, Douglas and Keene, all of whom look good in the pre-season workouts.

General practise will start on March first when 45 or 50 men will report, according to present indications. Among the letter men who will be available will be Capt. Novotny, Conley, Towne, Williams and Hasseltine. These together with Collins, Shorty Rice and Simmons will form the nucleus around which Coach Klevenow hopes to build a strong nine. With the promise of a wealth of good material from the entering class Middlebury's prospects on the diamond look fairly bright and it is probable that a number of the men will remain at Middlebury during the spring recess to get in top notch form for the coming season.

Old Chapel Contest Closes

A large number of valuable suggestions for the use of the Old Chapel room were received in the contest which closed Saturday afternoon. The letters are now being considered by the judges, who will make an announcement of the decision in the next issue of the CAMPUS. The writer of the suggestion which is considered to be the best will receive the prize of ten dollars offered by President Paul D. Moody.

The judges of the contest are Prof. W. E. Davison, Prof. Everett Skillings and Mr. J. J. Fritz, business manager of the college.

Middlebury Ski Jumpers Compete in Two Carnivals

Middlebury ski-jumpers took part in two winter carnivals Saturday, making good records in both of them. Hunt and Weston participated in the divisional meet of the Intercollegiate Winter Sports Union, held at Montreal. They competed against 30 other entries, all from Canadian universities. Norman Berger, the Canadian champion, was easily the best man, winning with standing jumps of 118, 115 and 114 feet. Both the Middlebury entries made good jumps. The McGill Daily says: "Hunt of Middlebury showed up exceptionally well."

Dearborn and Lathrop competed at Norwich against jumpers from Dartmouth, New Hampshire and Norwich. Dearborn made a jump of ninety-two feet while Lathrop covered seventy-four feet.

Small Fire Arouses Hepburn at Early Hour

Half the occupants of Hepburn Hall were aroused Sunday morning at five o'clock by a fire which broke out in room 35, the suite occupied by Ransom '29. The conflagration was discovered by Jason '29, who was awakened by the smell of smoke and who roused others and discovered the fire. It was quickly put out with the aid of one of the chemical extinguishers. A chair, a bathrobe and a memory book were ruined by the flames but that was the extent of the damage. It is thought that the fire was caused by a smouldering cigarette butt.

Alfred L. Padula '27 will represent the Middlebury Blue Baboon at the annual meeting of the Eastern Association of College Comics which is to be held at Princeton Friday and Saturday. Padula is advertising manager of the Baboon.

Yale News Announces .Strong New Platform

A lengthy document in the Yale News of February 11th, outlines the attitude of the new staff towards undergraduate, faculty and University affairs. The News will continue its campaign for the abolition of Compulsory Chapel. It will also support (in principle) the Harvard Crimson's proposals to take football out of the hands of the public, and the yelping alumni. Curriculum changes will be advocated, using the Dartmouth changes, and the Harvard system, not as substitutes for the present system but as "criterion of the quality of the Yale requirements." Also a segregation of "pass" and "distinction" men whereby the latter would appreciate the full benfit of an Intoria or honor system.

TWO WINS ENABLE D.K.E. TO HOLD LEAD

Alpha Sigs Fall Before the League Leaders In Close Game

With four more games played in the interfraternity basketball series, Delta Kappa Epsilon remains the only undefeated team. The Dekes last week took the measure of both Alpha Sigma Phi and Beta Kappa. Since they have only two more games to play in the regular series they are practically assured of a place in the championship series which will be played at the close of the season between the two teams that rank highest in the league race. However they have yet to meet Chi Psi and the Neutrals who are putting up a strong fight for the runner-up position. Chi Psi did not play during the past week but the Neutrals had little trouble in downing the Kappa Delta Rho quintet, which had previously beaten the Chi Psi's. The K. D. R. team got an even break for the week, when it won from Sigma Phi Epsilon.

D. K. E. Trims Beta Kappa

In a rather one-sided game played last Wednesday evening, the league-leading Dekes trimmed Beta Kappa by the score of 37 to 12. At the end of the half the score was 23 to 4. Willis was high scorer for D. K. E. while Lankes and Cornell played well for Beta Kappa.

K. D. R. Wins Close One

In one of the closest games of the week, Kappa Delta Rho defeated Sigma Phi Epsilon 32 to 24 Thursday evening. The contest was not especially fast, although at times the winners displayed a good passing game. Stewart and Bicknell starred for the winners, the latter being high point man. Hoyt and Jones played well for the Sig Eps. The losing team was weakened when McLean at center was forced from the game with injuries.

Neutrals Win Game

In a fast but rather one-sided game the Neutrals triumphed over the K. D. R. quintet last Saturday afternoon by the score of 39 to 15. Early in the first quarter Ferry '28 started scoring for the Neutrals, opening an attack which their opponents were unable to check. The half ended with the Neutrals leading 22 to 6. In the third quarter the K. D. R.'s held the Neutrals to four points while they tallied the same.

Ferry starred for the Neutrals, caging six field goals and a free throw for a total of thirteen points. The final score was 39 to 15.

D. K. E. Holds Lead

D. K. E. had its hardest struggle to retain its unbroken record of victories when it met Alpha Sigma Phi last Friday evening and won out 20 to 16 after a very close game. The Alpha Sigs started well and at the end of the half led 9 to 7. However, D. K. E. came back strongly in the last half and managed to pile up a winning lead. Hendrix was high point man of the game.

Kappa Kappa Gamma Holds Initiation Banquet

The annual initiation of the Gamma Lambda Chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma took place Saturday afternoon. The initiates were Florence C. Porter, '28, Irene Avery, Catherine Baldwin, Arleen Brownley, Grace Cheney, Frances Foley, Katherine Hodges, Jean Renton, Mildred Ross and Ruth Sturtevant, all of '29.

In the evening a formal banquet was held at the Addison House. Miss Doris Houston acted as toastmistress. Toasts were given by Margaret Doty '26, Ruth Quigley '24, Helen Bradley '28, Mrs. Wiley, Margaret Peck '25, Katharine Hodges '29, and Margaret Sedgwick '27.

INTERCOLLEGIATE

The record low score for a basketball game in the East was made Saturday evening when Dartmouth defeated Cornell at Hanover by the score of 12 to 8. The score at the end of the half was 4 to 3 in favor of Dartmouth. Columbia now leads the Eastern Intercollegiate league with the big Green a close second.

For ten years Professor Harry F. Carrington has been giving word tests to juniors and seniors enrolled in Prince ton public speaking classes. He reports an increase of 7 per cent. in average vocabulary over that period. In 1916, the average student recognized, well enough to use, eighty-six out of the one hundred selected words. This winter the average member of Professor Carrington's class recognized ninety three out of one hundred words.

A most striking example of interest being shown in one college concerning the affairs of another college is that at Harvard concerning the compulsory chapel controversy at Yale. The Harvard Crimson Tuesday published a long copyrighted article by an undergraduate who had formerly studied at Yale and who attacks the system at the New Haven institution. The Crimson published a thousand copies of a special early edition and rushed them to New Haven where they were sold to Yale undergraduates at the same time that they appeared on the streets in Cambridge.

QUINTET HAS ONLY FOUR MORE GAMES

All Are Against Opponents In State; Vermont Here Next Week

Although defeated in the last six games, the strength shown against some of the stronger New England teams makes it seem quite possible that the basketball quintet may take the remaining games on its schedule. All of the remaining games are against state opponents.

The Black Panther team will play its last out-of-town games during the coming week. Friday evening it is scheduled to meet Norwich at Northfield. The Cadets put up a stiff battle when they played here a month ago and lost out by only three point margin. However they seem to be weaker of late, having lost to Vermont 38 to 20 and to Springfield 43 to 10 last week. The Blue feels fairly confident of a victory in this game although expecting the stiffest kind of a battle.

Monday, Washington's birthday, the team will travel to Winooski to meet St. Michael's for the first time this year. The Purple's quintet does not seem to be quite so strong this year as usual so little difficulty is expected there. St. Michael's lost to Trinity last Friday evening by a 37 to 10 score and has lost to both Vermont and Norwich.

Vermont Game Important

The one game which looms large on the remainder of the schedule is that against Vermont, to be played here a week from Friday. Captain Rice's men lost out to the Green and Gold at Burlington in a hotly contested overtime battle and are confident that they will be able to take their opponent's measure on the home court. If they do so, it will be the first time that the Blue anl White has triumphed over the Green and Gold on the basketball court in five years and in order to keep their record intact Vermont will fight to the limit to win. Providing that Middlebury trims her other two opponents and that Vermont is able to defeat Norwich again, the game will have an important bearing on the state championship. Should Vermont win, the honor will be indisputably hers, but should Middlebury win, the laurels will be divided since the two teams will be in a tie for first place.

The lineup which will start Friday's game against Norwich is not yet quite certain. The change which was made in the M. A. C. game, bringing Knowles to center and putting Hasseltine in at guard strengthened the team so much defensively that it is quite possible that the same lineup may be kept against the Cadets. This, however, leaves Sorensen out of the lineup.

HOCKEY TEAM HAS FULL WEEK AHEAD

Meets Four Strong Teams in Period of Seven Days; Closes Schedule

Beginning today, when it meets the Army at West Point, the hockey team will play the last half of its schedule within a period of seven days. Saturday, it will meet the R. P. I. sextet at Troy. Then it will return to Middlebury to close the season on the home rink, playing Union here on Washington's birthday and the return game with Vermont the following day. Owing to the fact that St. Michael's cancelled the game scheduled to be played here last Saturday, two games next week will be the only home ones of the season.

The exceptionally strong showing which the team has made thus far this season, leads Captain McLaughlin to believe that his team has a fairly good chance of winning the remaining games, making the record for the season six victories out of eight starts. At the opening of the season, the Army game had been looked upon as the most difficult one on the schedule but since the Aggies defeated the soldiers and were in turn defeated by the Blue it would seem that Middlebury has a good chance of being victorious over the Army. However, the team may be somewhat weaker than it was against M. A. C. for Whittemore and Hill, who had been playing regularly at wings are now ineligible. Their absence seemed to hamper the team somewhat in the first part of its game against Vermont Monday but the combination seemed to work smoothly in the last two periods so it is possible that it will be as strong as in the previous games.

R. P. I. will be anxious to avenge the defeat which they received last year at the hands of the Panther pucksters. However, dope gives the Blue the edge on them also for they were defeated by M. A. C.

A large crowd should witness the Union game here Monday for its the only athletic event scheduled for the holiday. The Union sextet is a strong one, although little is known here of its record for the season.

The team feels confident that it will again be able to take the measure of the Green and Gold when it appears here Tuesday afternoon in the final game of the season. The Vermont team is fairly strong but it lacks the experience of the Blue sextet.

Tufts 26, Middlebury 20

The next night the Middlebury team came out on the short end of a 25 to 20 score with Tufts in Goddard Gymnasium after both teams had fought at top notch speed throughout the game. Middlebury played a fine game and the score see-sawed back and forth between the Brown and Blue and Blue and White teams with the Tufts quintet finally getting ahead when French and Stanley got together and on a number of combination plays put the game away for Tufts. W. Rice and Palmer were the Middlebury stars in this game.

Close Call for the Aggies

M. A. C. had the stiffest struggle of the season to retain the record of being the only undefeated team in New England, when they met the Blue and White quintet on their home floor Saturday afternoon and were forced to the limit to win by a 16 to 14 score. Middlebury outplayed and outpassed the Agrarians for the greater part of the game and scored six goals from the floor to the four that the opponents were able to make. The Aggies won the game because of the greater number of foul shots that they were able to make. Although the guarding on both sides was necessarily unusually close, unavoidably resulting in many fouls, the referee called but six fouls on the home team to seventeen called on the Blue quintet. The fact that the Aggies were able to make good eight of their seventeen tries, gave them sufficient points to squeeze through to their narrowest victory of the season. The M. A. C. team has met and defeated by decisive margins some of the leading teams in New England, including New Hampshire, Holy Cross, Brown and Wesleyan.

Coach Hargreaves used a new combination in this game that worked exceptionally well. Palmer played at left forward with W. Rice and Towne alternating at right forward. Knowles took the pivot position with Hasseltine and Capt. Rice at guards. Palmer showed up especially well as did Hasseltine in his first whole game. Knowles took the scoring honors with eight points.

The score at the end of the half was 7 to 7. The game was won in the last minute of play when Jones tallied on a one-hand shot over his head.

The Middlebury defense in this game was the best it has been this season and Coach Hargreaves, in no way disappointed with the result of the trip, feels that he has a combination that will achieve even better results in the remaining games on the schedule.

HOYT IS WINNER OF HANDBALL TOURNEY

Defeats Marchukaitis By Close Score After Hard Fought Battle

E. Murray Hoyt '26 won the college handball championship last week when he defeated John Marchukaitis '28 in the final match of the tournament. The contest was exceptionally close, the scores being 21-14, 16-21, 21-16, 21-17.

Hoyt started off fast and although he was given stiff opposition he gained the first game by a decisive margin, Marchukaitis was at his best in the second game and won by five points. With the score tied, Hoyt began to show the form that has kept him among the leaders in handball for the past few years and drew the next two games out of the fire, although only after a hard fight.

Entries close today for the college squash tennis tournament. A gold medal is to be awarded to the winner of championship. The tourney will be run by classes, similar to the tennis and handball tournaments. This is the first season that squash has been played here.

INTERCOLLEGIATE

Forty-eight candidates have reported for spring football practice at Dartmouth. They will hold workouts daily in the gymnasium until weather permits outdoor work. Oberlander and Sage, stars of last year's championship eleven will assist in the coaching.

Ohio Wesleyan recently won an intersectional debate with the University of California held at Berkely, Calif. The winners took the negative of the question "Resolved: That the present tendency of the government to restrict individual liberties should be deplored."

Fifty four colleges and universities have entered the Harper Intercollegiate Literary contest in which prizes of $1,000 are to be awarded for prose writing to American undergraduates.

Sage Show Monday Evening

The movie Monday evening will be for the benefit of the Sages, junior honorary society. The show is "Exchange of Wives" with Eleanor Boardman and Lew Cody. There will also be a Mack Sennett Comedy.
